CHEF STEVEN SATTERFIELD TO DELIVER KEYNOTE ADDRESS AT 2018 GEORGIA ORGANICS CONFERENCE & EXPO IN AUGUSTA

ATLANTA, Ga. - Chef Steven Satterfield will deliver the keynote address at the 2018 Georgia Organics Conference & Expo in Augusta. Satterfield is the Executive Chef and Co-owner of Miller Union in Atlanta. Named "2017's Best Chef in the Southeast" by the James Beard Foundation, he will deliver the keynote address at the Farmers Feast on Feb. 17 at 6 p.m. "It's a huge honor to be able to speak to this crowd because our principles and our values are highly aligned with those of Georgia Organics," said Satterfield.

Satterfield is a long-time Georgia Organics supporter and plans to share his personal journey discovering the links between eating seasonally, protecting our health, and safeguarding our natural environment during his address. "There's a great synergy with Georgia Organics and the farm community and the restaurant community so this is a great way for me to give back to the organization and also to hopefully impact the listeners with a message that will send them home with some deep thinking to do."

One of the largest of its kind in the Southeast, the Georgia Organics Conference connects farmers, educators, advocates, chefs, and organic food enthusiasts passionate about connecting Georgia food to Georgia families. Conference attendees will connect with like-minded peers, tour farms, cultivate new skills, and discover 70 exhibit booths with innovative food and agriculture related information.

Conference registration closes on Feb. 5 and individual tickets and tables for ten are still available for the Farmers Feast. For more information, visit conference.georgiaorganics.org.
